The book is a comprehensive list, detailing the many organizations that are actively trying to destroy America and its people. And we must not be afraid to call out and fight these enemies of democracy. Above all, the general public must understand and be warned that these enemies of freedom cannot be appeased or compromised. The book is a must-read for all patriotic Americans. Hannity discusses each of the anti-American groups on the list and offers a passionate call for Americans to stand with the truth about them: This list is as dangerous now as it was when it was compiled by former Joint Chiefs of Staff chairman Richard Myers, ambassador to China John Negroponte, and Reagan national security adviser Robert McFarlane in 1995. All of these groups have a common goal: destroy our nation's sovereignty and our founding liberties. Many Americans do not understand that the country in which we live is under total attack from the inside. Our right to self-government is being eroded by unconstitutional laws, judicial tyranny, and corrupt government officials. They are working to fundamentally change the character of the country. Many in the media and in the political establishment perpetuate the myths about them because they view them as obstacles to their dreams of power and control. But the truth about the left's hidden forces cannot be compromised or ignored.

Take the ACLU, for example. In times past, the ACLU has been among those most valiant in standing up for the principle of liberty. Today, however, it is one of the most influential left-wing organizations in America. On one hand, it campaigns against not only the NRA but for religious liberty. But on the other hand, it works with Hollywood and the Democrats, pushing unconstitutional drug laws, climate change, and radical homosexual marriage legislation. The ACLU also backs open borders, push divisive identity politics, and supports extreme gun control. Its policies and agenda are not in our best interests.
